

Representations of finite groups and their stratifications

Given a finite group, there is usually no reasonable classification of their modular representations. On the other hand, there is always a stratification in the spirit of Quillen's stratification of group cohomology. My talk will start with a gentle introduction to modular representations of finite groups. Then I'll explain in some detail the concept of stratification.

Prof. Dr. Henning Krause