Structure adaptive estimation by alternating

Vladimir Spokoiny (Humboldt University)

The talk introduces the general semiparametric framework for structure adaptive estimation by means of several examples from dimension reduction and inverse problems. Then a class of iterative/alternating procedures is presented as well as a general approach to studying their theoretical background including convergence, inference and efficiency.